

Jack Harrington - recovering in Hospital

Sun, 10/12/2014 - 18:00 — Carole Ingram

Hello everyone,

As you know Jack was resting at home after an operation. Sadly he was taken back into hospital a while ago with pneumonia which required a spell in intensive care. The good news is Jack is now out of intensive care, and is recovering from the pneumonia. His son wanted to let everyone know that whilst he is still very weak, he is making progress every day.

The family have decided that the best thing for Jack at the moment is rest and they will let us know when he is able to see visitors. They appreciate all the concern from everyone at table tennis.

Regards

Carole
